

RED CROSS STARTS MAKING SUPPLIES FOR THE MILITIA

First Activity of Supply Section Centers on the Local Boys Along the Border

MUST ALSO GET RESERVE Great Quantity of Supplies Are to Be Made and Warehoused for Use in Emergency

Every woman who can use her hands at all is needed by the La Crosse chapter of the American Red Cross, according to announcement Tuesday. Organization of the work of the section entrusted with the gathering of supplies is rapidly crystallizing. It appears that there is a tremendous amount of work done, to take care of the needs of the La Crosse boys now on the border, and to lay up a stock of supplies against a time of national emergency. And the first named work is urgent.

Clubs Take up Work Circles for the manufacture of Red Cross supplies are already formed. Lunch clubs and afternoon study clubs have enlisted, and made the Red Cross needs the center of their work. Other circles are being formed especially to knit and cut bandages, etc., for the Red Cross, and many individuals are already hard at it with knitting needles in their homes. The big drive for humani-

YOUNG WOMEN MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."—Mrs. MATILDA KURTZWEIG, 529 High St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

If you know of any young woman who is sick and needs help, ask her to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Only women will receive her letter, and it will be held in strictest confidence.

tarian preparedness is on in La Crosse.

The most urgent need just now is for the manufacture of supplies needed by the militiamen on the border. This work is to go forward at once and unceasingly. A specialty is being made of comfort bags, the handy little kits with needles, thread, soap and a score of other accessories for the soldier. But many other things are needed. In this connection a circular of the American Red Cross says:

"In connection with the mobilization of our troops on our Southwest border, the American Red Cross has undertaken to collect and distribute soldiers' gifts and other relief supplies, and the various express companies have cordially co-operated in this humanitarian work and will accept such shipments at two-thirds of the regular rate.

Supplies Needed "Supplies contributed should fall within the following approved list only:

"Reading matter, games, comfort bags, pajamas, cotton socks (medium weight, large size), towels, pipes and smoking tobacco, cigarettes, electric fans (to hospitals), chewing gum, chocolate in tin boxes, hard candies, instantaneous coffee, evaporated cream and canned fruits and other delicacies in tins.

"Surgical dressings and hospital supplies will be acceptable if made according to directions in Red Cross circular No. 115."

This work goes forward at once. It looms large before the La Crosse chapter. In the background lies the need for a store of Red Cross supplies against a national emergency, bandages, hospital supplies, etc., to be warehoused for a need that may come at any time. The Red Cross has supplied, in circular 115 mentioned above, a list of the things that are needed, and as fast as the exigencies to the border situation are met, the local circles will turn their energies to piling up material for the reserve.

In the list are assorted bandages of all shapes and sizes, hospital equipment—pajamas, towels, etc.—for patients, operating equipment, splints, clothing, comfort bags, etc.

Knitters Mobilize

The supply section has found a number of local women who devoted hours of their leisure last winter to unorganized work for the Red Cross eager to join in the local chapter's work. Last year they worked on knitted things for the European trenches, mostly. To those wise in

Half Century U. S. For First Year In Leads Ship Building

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The American output of merchant ships for the calendar year will exceed that of all the rest of the world, Chief Chamberlain of the United States bureau of navigation predicted.

This year is the first in fifty the United States has led in ship building, said Chamberlain.

He declared figures collected indicate a total output of 351 steel ships and a total of 672,106 gross tons. For the first six months ships totalling in tonnage nearly 300,000 have slid down the ways. This is more than the entire output for 1914 or 1915.

the lore of the knitting needle the Red Cross authorities are saying:

"We don't want the scarfs and caps that they needed in the trenches. Give us socks, bed socks, knit sponges and wash cloths for our boys on the border."

And with this suggestion, the Red Cross furnishes all directions for making the articles, down to the last minute detail.

It is a work, according to those in charge of it here, in which every hand can find profitable employment. Not only the needles of the women, but the purses of the men are welcomed. Everyone is urged to co-operate.

Any information regarding the opportunities offered by the supply section of the Red Cross may be obtained from Mrs. Harry Colman.

RED PIMPLES ON NECK AND FACE

Spread Rapidly on Shoulders and Body. Itching and Burning Intense. Completely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My trouble began in small red pimples which soon grew larger, festered and came to a head, then dried and formed a crust somewhat of a yellowish color. My neck and face were entirely covered with eruptions which spread rapidly on my shoulders and body. They were in the form of blotches and the itching and burning were so intense that I was obliged to scratch and irritate the affected parts.

"A friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They instantly cooled and relieved the trouble and one week's use completely healed me." (Signed) Miss Cecilia Wells, Valence, Ind., July 21, 1915.

'FRISCO WITHOUT CLUE TO GUILTY IN BOMB OUTRAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—San Francisco and the Trans-Bay cities buried their dead Tuesday.

With thousands of grieving friends in attendance, the bodies of five of the six victims of Saturday's bomb outrage were borne to the grave.

Meantime, the search for the guilty dynamiter continued. Spurred on by the offer of rewards totalling $14,000, several hundred citizens offered their services to aid the police and secret service men in the search.

Aside from Osmund Jacobs, who is held in Fresno, no persons are under arrest against whom real suspicion is directed. Chief of Police White is declared to have communicated to Mayor Rolph the details of a "hot trail" his men have found, but both the chief and mayor were silent today.

THOUSANDS PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO POET RILEY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 26.—Lockerie stree Tuesday saw the passing of James Whitcomb Riley. At 2:30 p. m. the private funeral of the people's poet was to be held—in striking contrast with the overwhelming tribute paid him last night in the state house.

That Hoosiers loved Riley was demonstrated when 35,000 men, women and children passed before his bier Monday night.

The bard's body will be placed in a vault at Crown Hill cemetery. Plans are already under way to make the quiet home on Lockerie street a memorial and to erect a stately edifice at Crown Hill.

SLIT BATHING SUIT REVEALS TIGHTS, ETC.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 26.—A pretty blonde of exceptional figure and nerve, stunned and then pleased beach habits when she tripped merrily forth in a "slit" bathing suit. The "slit" was in the left side of the ner-skirt and revealed short white silk tights, which in turn gave a peep of—er—er, well, pink tinted nature.

The beach is now looking like an animated barber shop pole. Dame Fashion, not content with broad red stripes running up and down on silk bathing suits, has turned to much broader stripes, running in spirals from neck to the bottom of the skirt.

Often Tuberculosis Is Much Relieved

by what may be called the "natural" treatment. This is based on plenty of fresh air, a sufficiency of well-cooked, pure food and a large measure of rest.

This treatment does not always secure the desired results. Sometimes there is need for medication in order to bring about the requisite body resistance. A system weakened by infection must be strengthened.

In such cases Eckman's Alternative has been used with a large measure of success. Indeed, in many instances, this affection apparently has yielded to it. And sufferers from asthma and chronic bronchitis have found it effective in these troubles, which sometimes lead to tuberculosis. In any case, it is worth a trial; and, since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, its use is safe.

Military men here have become interested in Johnson's case on account of his brave record as scout with the American punitive expedition.

The Searchlight

TELEPHONE THE CHEF
A cafe in Plainfield New Jersey, has installed a unique system for the convenience of its diners. Whether the plan will eventually be welcomed by the dining public has still to be proved, but it has the merits of ingenuity and novelty. Each table in this enterprising cafe is connected directly with the kitchen and the head chef by means of a telephone. The fastidious diner, instead of trusting the fine points of his order to a mere waiter, tells them directly into the ear of the chef. Thus he can have his steak cooked to the exact turn he likes, and get exactly the proper number of drops of seasoning in the sauces.

THE NATIONAL POLITICAL ISSUE

Two great men are running for the presidency of the United States. Each is blessed with powerful intelligence. Probably there is more spirituality and imagination in Mr. Wilson's mentality, a closer reasoning and more practical logic in that of Mr. Hughes. Either would be a safe president. We should like Mr. Hughes better with some of Mr. Wilson's idealism; Mr. Wilson better with some of Mr. Hughes' reader initiative. We feel that, as they are, the country will be safe with either, and that in this critical time the United States is indeed fortunate in having the choice for president lie between two truly exceptional personalities.

It is apparent that one of the acute issues will be the present Mexican policy. It can not be said that President Wilson has demonstrated its value, although there is still time in which he may prove that his vision was clear. It does seem that there may have been a more practical way, nor can we escape the feeling that this country has more than a negative responsibility in relation to the larger internal problems of the harassed republic, but the solution which we shall accept from the republicans—which the American people will accept—must be worked out in a mission of peace. The electorate of this country will not vote to "fight for conciliation", they will not vote for war.

To make a successful adverse campaign issue out of the president's European policy is impossible. The rest of the civilized world is at war, we are at peace, prosperous, with honor and dignity intact.

The real issue this year is the old issue of the parties, deeper than the tariff. It is that underlying, fundamental problem of nationality. The republican party is the party of the nation, the democratic party the party of the states. That issue has held the "solid south" together for decades. For the democrats to abandon "states' rights" would be to invite the dissolution of their greatest sectional strength.

The trend of government development in all nations has been toward greater central authority. In this country there is apparent necessity for more parent enterprise in the federal field. What the states are doing, in separate and conflicting ways, that could be as well or better done by the national government, should be done by the latter in order to have uniformity and the relatively greater efficiency that comes from a single central power plant.

Opposition, in the main, is not based upon state jealousy—at least in the north. In Wisconsin, for instance, there is the fear that should we surrender our state regulation of railroads and accept instead the general regulation and supervision of the federal government, we might be giving up our proven, efficient agencies only to be buncoed by national regulation that did not regulate.

That danger exists. However, the obvious advantages of uniform, efficient national regulation deserve consideration. It is our notion that the latter must come, and that when it does come, we shall be safeguarded.

We pay too little attention to the work of our congressmen and senators. Why? Because we center our efforts upon the state machinery, upon which we depend for the really important things. But in a situation wherein we must turn to the federal government for that vital service for which we now look to the state, would we not see to it that the men we sent to Washington should stand for our interests, just as now we demand that good faith from our state officials?

The lessons so dearly paid for in Europe we must learn from their object lesson, else shall we learn them later at greater cost. A representative government that rules and serves and has its resources always well in hand, rather than a government whose chief concern is the distribution of "pork", we must have in Washington.

To us, that seems the American issue. If it shall be lost sight of by the republicans through indulgence in pusillanimous abuse of the foreign policy of the most over-taxed administration since the Civil war, an impression of treasonable politics will be created that will be deeply resented by the great mass of the people, and Mr. Hughes will have lost his opportunity.

MR. HATTON GRASPS THE WISCONSIN ISSUE

In opening his campaign at Ellsworth last night, Hon. W. H. Hatton, who bears the endorsement of the progressive republicans of Wisconsin for governor, struck straight at the heart of a danger to Wisconsin democracy that is very subtle and vastly important. It is the insidious nature of this menace that permitted it to escape the interpretation of the electors two years ago, and that today makes successful assault upon it possible only through exposure at the hands of one whose understanding is deep, whose power of analysis is keen and who knows how to bring the message home to the people.

That man is Mr. Hatton. He so demonstrated in his first campaign utterance. His illustration contrasting republican government without the spirit of democracy, with republican government fired by that spirit—a comparison of republican Mexico with republican United States—"rang the bell". Give this republic over to a Diaz, into the control of a Diaz commercialism, and the constitution and statutes will become mere forms, as empty of ideals and liberty as is republican Mexico.

Diaz thought always of the dollar—the dollar for the few. Think of that democracy the president of which invited American capital to interest itself because "labor is cheap"! Democracy exploiting itself through false leadership!

In Wisconsin, with the spirit of true democracy, we have legislated for men and women, rather than for dollars, and our rich dollar harvest has come as a by-product of the happiness of men and women. But industrial Diazism has gained control of the machinery of democracy in Wisconsin, and would administer laws made for people, in the interest of people making dollars out of men and women. As we face this situation, not unconscious that no country can be happy where "Three-fourths of the people are bridled and saddled and one-fourth booted and spurred".

From time to time we shall go further into Mr. Hatton's treatment of the situation. Meantime we urge for his address, in this paper, a serious reading.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Out of the Mouths of Kids
A schoolboy, unconscious that he was a humorist, wrote the following essay on the human body:

"The human body is divided into three parts—the head, the chest and tummy. The head contains the eyes, ears, nose, mouth and brains, if any. The chest contains the heart, lungs and part of the liver. The tummy is entirely devoted to the vowels, of which there five."

Pronunciation Wrong

Grace Valentine was asked by a professional dancer named Leyer for a tango while she was in a cafe one night recently. She said she'd dance with him and he went away. When the music started he came back.

"Is this my dance?" he asked.
"Yes, indeed, Mr. Fibber," replied Miss Valentine.—New York World.

Advice From an Expert

An old Negro mammy had a family of boys so well behaved that one day her mistress asked:

"Sally, how did you raise your boys so well?"
"Ah'll tell yo, missus," answered Sally. "Ah raise dem boys with a barrel stave, an' Ah raise 'em frequent."

Lower Mathematics

Teacher—"Now, children, try to figure just this once without counting on your fingers. How much are three and four?"

Pupil (looking under the bench after a long wait)—"Seven."

Teacher—"Right. Four and six?"

Pupil (again peeping under the bench)—"Ten."

Teacher—"Hold up there, you little rascal! I'll teach you to count on your fingers! (Takes pupil's hands and clasps them behind his back.) Now then, five and three?"

Pupil (after another long look under the bench)—"Eight."

Teacher—"Well, how did you manage to do that?"

Pupil—"With my toes, teacher."

The Only Way

Trade was bad. At the end of another blank day the discouraged salesman called on another prospective customer and asked to show his samples.

"No, there is nothing I want today," said the customer.

"But will you just examine my line of goods?" the salesman persisted.

The customer would not.

"Then," said the salesman meekly, "will you let me use a part of your counter to look at them myself, as I have not had the opportunity for some time?"—New York Times.

"Why are you investigating automobiles so thoroughly? Going to buy a car?"

"No; but I want to be able to butt in with advice when I see one stalled in the street."

LAKE TAHOE

A mile high and half a mile deep—that was the phrase an old German boatman on Lake Tahoe used to describe the body of cold blue water in which he took a proprietary pride. Whether or not he was exactly correct in his altitude and his surroundings, he somehow succeeded in hitting off the individuality of Tahoe with a felicity that the more erudite might envy. The lake gives precisely that impression of lying very high, in a thin bracing level whose "feel" is unmistakable, so that if you were transported blindfold to its shores you would know that you were high in the mountains. And when your eyes were opened you could tell somehow by the quality of the blue lights on the water that here were depths unimagined.

There is a play of color in the water, shading from lightest greens to deepest blues, that comes and goes like a pageant with every change of light from early morning with its pink dawn to the flaming Western sunset, crude and barbaric in primary hues. The same shades play over the snow-capped peaks that ring the water, and through the fragrant long-needed green pines with their rich brown carpet of dead and buried needles of other years below them. It is a silent symphony of color that can almost be heard in the mountain stillness.

When the esthetic side of your nature has feasted to repletion you can go out and catch fish. They have lake trout in Tahoe of a distinct local variety, and down in the cold dark inaccessible depths the fish that are never caught attain in the mouths of anglers fearsome and awe-inspiring weights. They are actually taken out up to thirty pounds, however; and even a five or six-pounder who has struck your minnow and saved the water in circles around the boat for fifteen minutes while you reeled with your heart in your mouth furnishes enough sport for a modest man.

PRUDENCE OF THE PARSONAGE

By ETHEL HUESTON

"No, indeed, we've just ignored Miss Allen ever since. We have watched her as closely as we could since then, to see if we could catch what she says in school, but we found several strong points against her. It's a perfectly plain case, no doubt about it."

"And so you went among the other freshmen influencing them, and telling tales, and criticizing your—"

"No, indeed, Prue, we wouldn't! But you know it says in the Bible to beware of false doctrines and the sowers of bad seed—or something like that—"

"And we bewared as hard as we could," grinned Carol.
"We have tried to explain these things to the other freshmen so Miss Allen could not lead them into error. Oh, that's Christian Science, isn't it? Well, Minnie Carlson is a Christian Scientist and she talks so much about falling into error that—honestly—"

"We can't tell error from truth any more," interjected Carol neatly. "And so I hope you won't punish us if we accidentally vary from the truth once in a while."

This was quite beyond Prudence's depth. She knew little of Christian Science save that it was a widely accepted creed of recent origin. So she brought the twins back to Miss Allen again. "But, twins, do you think it was kind, and Christian, and—like parsonage girls, to accept all this against Miss Allen without giving her a chance to defend herself?"

"As I told you, Prue, we have watched her very close since. She has never come right out in the open—she wouldn't dare—but she has given herself away several times. Nothing can get by us when we're on the watch, you know!"

Prudence knew. "What did Miss Allen say?"

The twins thought seriously for a while.

"Oh, yes, Lark," suggested Carol finally, "don't you remember she said the Bible was an allegory?"

"What?"

"Yes, she did. She was explaining to the English class what was meant by allegory, and she said the purpose of using allegory was to teach an important truth in a homely impressive way that could be remembered. She mentioned several prominent allegories, and said the Bible was one. And you know yourself Prue, that the Bible is Gospel truth; and—I mean, it is so! I mean—"

"What she means," said Lark helpfully, "is that the Bible is not just a pretty way of teaching people to be good, but it's solid fact clear through."

"That's very well expressed, Lark,"—Prudence herself could not have expressed it half so well! "But how do you twins understand all these things so thoroughly?"

"Oh, you know Mrs. Sears is our Sunday school teacher, and she's always hot on the trail of the higher critics and heretics. She explained all about the—nefarious system to us one Sunday. She says the higher critics try to explain away the Bible by calling it allegory. So we were ready for Miss Allen there. And whenever anything came up at school, we would ask Mrs. Sears about it on Sunday—without mentioning names of course. She's very much gratified that we are so much interested in such things. She thinks we're sure to be deaconesses, at the very least. But Carol said she wouldn't be a deaconess—she was going to be a Red Cross nurse and go to war. That stumped Mrs. Sears for a while, and then she said we could be Red Cross Deaconesses."

"I won't," said Carol, "because the deaconess uniforms aren't as stylish as the Red Cross nurses'. I think I'll look pretty fine in a white uniform with a stiff little cap and a red cross on my arm. Red crosses make a very pretty decoration, don't you think they do, Lark?"

"What else did Miss Allen say at school?" Prudence demanded, leading the twins back to the subject.

"Well, one day she said—you know she gives uplifting little moral talks quite often. Prue. Sometimes she tells us stories with inspiring points. She's really a moral person, I believe."

"And I'm honestly sorry she's a heretic," said Carol, "for I do want to be friendly enough with her to ask if she uses anything on her complexion to keep it so rose-leafy. If she does, I'll have some of it, if it takes all my next year's clothes!"

Lark laughed. "A rose-leaf complexion will be a poor substitute for—"

"Oh, for goodness' sake, twins, come back to Miss Allen. I am going right up to her house this minute, to ask her about it, and explain—"

"She's the one to do the explaining, seems to me," said Carol beligerently. "We've got to stick up for the Bible, Prue—it's our business."

"And I don't think you should tell her. It may hurt her feelings," urged Lark.

"Have heretics feelings?" queried Carol. "I suppose it's a feeling of—"

"Carol! Will you quit talking for a minute! This is a serious matter. If she believes all that nonsense, she's no proper teacher and—and she'll have to be put out of the high school. And if she doesn't,

NEWS NOTES MOVIELAND
60 DAISY DEAN

In filming "The Sting of Victory," Henry B. Walthall's next feature, beautiful mansions of southern design were to be found in numbers at Lake Forest, Chicago's millionaire suburb. Just north of this is an excellent battlefield location, Camp Logan. In normal times there are the soldiers of Fort Sheridan in the same locality, and the boys of the Great Lakes training station, together with numerous Chicago guard regiments to draw on.

Just as the beautiful north shore can furnish southern homes or Italian villas with equal ease, so can the city proper give any desired architecture. William Gillette found in Chicago locations which duplicated the worst parts of London for his "Sherlock Holmes."

Fine Scenery in Wisconsin

Lake Michigan can look like an ocean any time a camera is trained on it, and if other aquatic scenes are desired the most beautiful lake region in the country lies only an hour or two away in Wisconsin.

In northern Wisconsin the primeval wilderness stands preserved in state parks. Thus, when such a setting was required for "The Return of Eve," Edna Mayo's next feature, it was a simple matter to transport a company to the famous Dells of the Wisconsin river, where the territory still is to be seen as it lay when the Chippewas roamed over it before the coming of the white men.

It is possible with Chicago as the center, to film the bustling twentieth century business activities and nature at the simplest with one camera all in the same day.

Charles Chaplin's Change in Fortune

As an instance of the meteoric rise of Charles Chaplin the eccentric Mutual comedian who receives the huge salary of $670,000 a year to make people laugh was evidenced at a recent dinner at which he was the guest of honor. At this particular dinner entertainment was furnished by professional artists. One of them was a well known stage star in whose company Chaplin played a comparatively small part less than four years ago.

"Just think of it," he said, "a short time ago I was merely an actor contributing to the lady's success, whereas now I am the guest of honor and she is engaged for my amusement. However, the fact affords me less satisfaction than it does embarrassment."

Gerda Holmes.
She is an actress of rare ability, and plays roles in World pictures.

This sentiment is typical of the Chaplin character. Despite rumors to the contrary, there is no bigger hearted individual living than this same little fellow of the funny feet.

Determined to master the ukulele, Edna Mayo of Essanay carries the instrument with her everywhere—at the studios, at home and in her motor. She already plays it well.

first Miss Allen laughed, it must be confessed. Then she grew very sober. "It is really my fault," she said, "for I should have remembered that young people read a ton of meaning into a pound of words. Of course, I am not guilty, Miss Starr. Professor Duke and Miss Adams can swear to that. They call me Goody-goody. They say I am an old-fashioned apostle, and they accuse me of wanting to burn them both at the stake! Now, sit down and let me explain."

Prudence sat down. She was glad, so glad, that this sweet-faced, bright-eyed woman was an "ordinary Christian," and not a "priest and a Le-vite!"

(To Be Continued)

Almost Incurable
Mr. Craig was reading the evening paper, while his wife sat near by, knitting.

"Just listen to this, Debby," he said. "It says here in the paper that more than 5,000 elephants a year go to make our piano-keys."

"Gracious," cried the wife. "Ain't it just wonderful, Dan, what some animals can be trained to do!"

MINNESOTA SEA MILITIA BEST OF ALL ON CRUISE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 26.—Wearing a deep coat of tan and happy smiles, 2,000 naval militiamen from western states who were classed as "rookies" two weeks ago, landed at the Philadelphia navyyard Tuesday as regular seamen. It was the official close of their two weeks' training trip aboard the battleships Rhode Island, Alabama and Illinois.

Unreserved praise was heaped upon the Minnesota men by everyone. The officers in charge of the cruise for the United States navy unanimously declared them superior in all respects to any other unit.

Minnesota, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois and Michigan, had men on the ships.

IF YOU WORRY, READ THIS

Worry never brought any good to anybody. But, you say, "I don't worry because I want to. I worry because I can't help it." Or, "I worry because I have so much to worry about."

We all have our troubles and worry, of course, makes matters worse. The patient generally recognizes this fact without being able to profit by it.

The doctor who could meet this nervous condition and cure it would be the most popular medical man alive. But he cannot do it because the form of nervous exhaustion known as neurasthenia, of which worry is a characteristic symptom, must be cured by the patient himself. That is why you should write today for the book "Diseases of the Nervous System" and read the chapter on "Neurasthenia." So many people have read it and written back, "This hits my case exactly. I am giving the treatment a trial and being benefited," that the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. has had a lot of these books printed and will send you a copy free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic, particularly suited for nervous, neurotic people. Your druggist sells them or they will be mailed postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

ENGLISH STAR IN
PARAMOUNT FILM
"Saints and Sinners," the widely discussed Famous Players screen version of Henry Arthur Jones' world-famous drama, appearing at the Bijou introduces Peggy Hyland, the talented beautiful English star, to American photoplay audiences. In the stellar role of Letty, this dainty little English actress making her American debut via the screen on the Paramount program, so distinguishes herself that she is certain to become one of the great photoplay favorites of the nation over night.

Aside from the interest centered about the addition of this charming player to the renowned roster of the Famous Players, importance is attached to this great photoplay because it is based on one of the foremost dramatic and literary successes of the time. The early scenes of the story take place in the picturesque village of Steepleford. Here Letty, the role impersonated by Miss Hyland, lives with her father, the Rev. Fletcher, and her spinster housekeeper, Lydia. The small family is quite contented with the humble lot, but Letty is a bit happier than all the rest, for George Kingsmill, a young farmer, is paying her visits very often.

Happiness begins to wane with the arrival of Captain Fanshawe, a man of doubtful reputation. Letty is attracted to him by his magnetic personality and forgets all else save him. The Minister, observing his daughter often in the company of this rogue, forbids her to see the Captain again.

Letty obeys her father's wishes. Fanshawe, however, lays plans for the near future. His opportunity comes at the church picnic when he extends an invitation to Letty for a row on the river. She willingly accepts as he claims this to be his last day in Steepleford. Like most farewell affairs of this tender nature, the hours fly by quickly, and before Letty can realize the time, the congregation has returned homeward. Fanshawe suggests a journey home by train. Letty without the slightest suspicion of the Captain's treachery, readily agrees. But once on the train Letty is helpless. Samuel Hogard, an enemy of her father, beams with evil joy as he witnesses her and her companion boarding the train for New York upon which he is a passenger.

Horror seizes Letty when she grasps the situation. What could the distressed girl do, with help so far distant? This great question is dramatically and entertainingly answered in the remaining scenes of this latest Paramount picture, which marks the fourth Henry Arthur Jones' play produced by the Famous Players Film Co.

Plans for the production of the fifth great work by this master dramatist, to be adapted to the screen, "The Silver King," are now being actively carried forward by this leading production company. Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week.

FRANK KEENAN
IN "THE PHANTOM"
Chuck full of surprises—abounding with quick action and tense moments—this Triangle play is different from any other in which Frank Keenan has appeared.

So cleverly is the story handled that the most enthusiastic fan won't be able to foretell the final ending. By the time Keenan has changed from Gentleman Thief to Central Office Detective and then to United States secret service officer anything seems possible. And when the end is reached you are more surprised than ever at the outcome.

If you enjoy detective plays then you will certainly will appreciate "The Phantom," which will be at the Majestic next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

PELL AND GRIFFIN ARE

BOSTON, Mass., July 26.—Theodore Roosevelt Pell and Clarence J. Griffin, conqueror of R. Norris Williams, Second, former national champion, Monday, are the main attraction for the tennis fans at Longwood today. Griffin's surprising break against Williams was closely seconded by Pell's defeat of Wallace F. Johnson. The battle Tuesday is expected to be the best of the entire match.

The two Orientals, N. Mikami and I. Kumagne, came through their sets victorious. Mikami will oppose I. C. Wright this afternoon.

THE HASKIN LETTER
By Frederic J. Haskin
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—Elie Mechnikov, the famous scientist who died a few days ago, was a man with two reputations. To the scientific and intellectual world, he was recognized as one of the most daring and original thinkers of this age; but to the great public he was known solely as the man who recommended the drinking of buttermilk.

Mechnikov was the discoverer of the method by which the human body resists disease; he was the worthy successor of Louis Pasteur in the Paris institute of that name; and he sent millions of gallons of buttermilk and Koumis and fermented milk cascading down the throats of millions of people. He made a great scientific reputation, and then he made the remark that perhaps buttermilk would prolong life; and forthwith the world set out to drown death in buttermilk. It did not succeed, but it pretty well swamped Mechnikov's reputation for genuine scientific achievement.

Mechnikov was a Russian by birth, a Jew by race, and an atheist by religion. For all of these reasons he left Russia at an early age, and came to Paris, where he quickly gained a great reputation, not only as a scientist, but as a philosopher. His great achievement was the discovery of the action of the phagocytes, or white blood corpuscles, in combating disease. He showed that these tiny particles of matter are really living amoebae, that fight for the life of the body. When you cut your finger, it is the phagocytes, rushing into the breach to fight the intruding microbes, that cause the formation of a scab. If the battle is hard fought, there is inflammation, and if it goes very hard there may be fever. Under the microscope, these phagocytes may be seen overcoming, devouring and digesting their enemies, the microbes.

The truth and value of this discovery by Mechnikov was promptly recognized by Virchow, the German who discovered the white corpuscles, and Pasteur, who discovered the microbes. He also received half of a Nobel prize for this discovery, the sum being divided between him and Professor Ehrlich, who discovered "606."

The twenty thousand dollars received by Mechnikov, he used in furthering his studies.

Mechnikov's studies of old age proceeded logically from his discovery of the phagocytes, for he found that in later life these began to prey on the body and were one cause of its decay. The principal other one he found in the bacilli which inhabit the lower intestine, and he defined old age as "an infectious, chronic disease."

He was able to show that the major intestine was by no means essential to human life, and that it was undoubtedly a serious menace at times. He also found that in many lower animal forms, the life is long in proportion as the major intestine is short.

From all of this he deduced that human life is by no means so limited as generally supposed, and he announced his belief that one hundred and fifty years is much nearer the normal lifetime of man than the accepted seventy years. In support of this contention he gathered from all over the world records of persons who had lived to be more than a hundred. He cited as well-authenticated the case of Drakenburg, the Norwegian, who lived to be 146 years of age; that of Thomas Parr, a Shropshire peasant, who did hard work until he was 130 years of age and died at 152; and a long list of others. He showed by specific cases that, although sobriety was conducive to long life, neither tobacco, coffee, nor alcohol was at all fatal. Thus he cited the case of Elizabeth Durieux, who lived to be 120 and made coffee her principal food, taking sometimes forty small cups every day; and that of the famous Irish landowner, Bawn, who also lived to be 120, and who had an inscription put on his tombstone to the effect that he was always drunk, and when in that condition was so terrible that even death had been afraid of him.

So, by a process of elimination, Mechnikov came back to his theory that the bacilli in the major intestine are the real cause of death and old age. The question was how to be rid of them. One method that occurred to him was by placing in the intestine, other bacilli that would crowd out the dangerous ones. The bacilli of the lactic acid in fermented milk is a very healthy one, and the idea that persistent drinking of buttermilk, Koumis and other forms of fermented milk might produce the desired result was a perfectly logical conclusion, though not susceptible of scientific proof. Mechnikov was further strengthened in his belief by the fact that the people of Bulgaria, who drink a great deal of fermented milk, live to a very great age, and have a surprising percentage of centenarians among them.

Mechnikov himself drank fermented milk, and recommended it. He had nothing to do with the numerous fermented milk drinks that were put on the market, and made no profit out of his idea. He certainly deserved neither the devoted following of confirmed buttermilk drinkers which he got from scientists and press. To hear himself called "the modern Ponce de Leon searching for the fountain of immortal youth and finding it in the milky whey," must have caused him some little perplexity.

Mechnikov was a philosopher, whose ideas will repay the study of anyone. He believed that science must not only be the great ameliorator of the conditions of human life, but that it must also be to men a new faith. He believed that religion is losing its hold upon men, and that they are turning to all sorts of mystical creeds on the one hand, and to pessimism on the other. There is little doubt but that the nineteenth century will be regarded as an age of pessimism, and that the increase of suicide may be traced largely to a growing spirit of pessimism. Mechnikov wished to substitute for this a faith in science, and in the great things it can do for human life. He desired to relieve man of his great enemies, which are Pain and Fear. Science, he believes, will conquer pain; and he would have men escape the fear of Gods, and learn to welcome death at the proper time.

Mechnikov also preached a philosophy of self-sufficiency, and showed the wastefulness of self-sacrifice more clearly if less epigrammatically, than Bernard Shaw has shown it in his dramas and prefaces. Modern civilization, he said, has no place for self-sacrifice, which means the injury of one individuality for the temporary and meretricious benefit of another.

Mechnikov also had well developed ideas about feminism, and once addressed a convention of suffragists considerably to their annoyance. He believed that women had a right to intellectual development—his own wife was a distinguished scientist—but he did not accept the current theory of the suffragist that her development has been repressed by an age-long political bondage to man, from which the vote will free her. He told the ladies that man had never kept her from eminence in any of the arts; but that she had nevertheless very seldom attained it. He further pointed out that in child hygiene, obstetrics, home sanitation and other fields which had been the special occupation of women for generations, all the important discoveries and improvements had been made by man. Finally, Mr. Mechnikov concluded, although woman had been cooking since the dawn of history, whenever he wanted a good dinner he found it necessary to patronize a chef.

CHENEY, Wyo., July 26.—National Council of Women Voters, holding their annual convention here simultaneously with the twentieth annual frontier days celebration, will see their sisters rope a thousand pound steer and break a wild horse.

Events for women are scheduled for every one of the four days' frontier program which opened today. Some of the past champions in the broncho busting and roping events for men are entered. A heavy attendance is expected from Colorado, Cheyenne being the favorite "oasis" closest to the Colorado prohibition desert.

Delegates will be in attendance from twelve states and the territory of Alaska. The membership of the council is confined to the women of the enfranchised states. The organization is strictly non-partisan and aims especially to educate women to use the ballot in the interests of the best legislation, and to aid in extending equal suffrage throughout the country. Mrs. Emma Smith DeVoe of Tacoma is the president of the council and will preside over the four days' session.

It's the rare, true flavour of prime, white Indian corn itself, and these New Toasties are the first corn flakes that do not depend on cream and sugar for palatability.

The proof of this superior flavour is found by eating some from the package dry. They're deliciously good that way, but of course are usually served with cream or good milk.

Examine the New Post Toasties flakes. The quick, fierce heat of the new process of manufacture, not only raises the distinguishing little bubbles on each flake, but gives a body and firmness that makes the New Toasties a more substantial food than ordinary "corn flakes."

New Post Toasties do not "chaff" or crumble in the package, and they don't mush down when cream is added. They come to you untouched by hand, and in moisture-proof packages that preserve their delightful oven-crispness until served at your table.

PIGS AT BOTTOM OF GATE FRACAS NOW IN COURTS

Weinke Appears Here with a Five-foot Length of Fencing He Says Was Used as a Club

Will E. Weinke, one of the chief figures in the "gate of troubles mix-up" at Bangor, came to La Crosse Wednesday, bringing with him as exhibit a piece of fencing about five feet long with which he claims he was assaulted by Joe and William Weinke also claims that the fracas about which Bangor is much excited, really started over the escape of some pigs.

Were Chasing Pigs
"I have a few little pigs in the forty the other side of Mrs. Thomas' farm," he said, when interviewed by a TRIBUNE reporter, "and they escaped into Mrs. Thomas' oats as pigs will do. My boy, Fred, a little fellow about 11 years old, was trying to corner them and get them back into my lot, when Mrs. Thomas and the Hanson boys refused to let him through the gate. When I went to see what was the matter, one of the boys said, 'I'm going to kill you.'"

"Go ahead," I said, and reached for the gate to open it, when I was hit on the side of the head and knocked insensible."

Such is Mr. Weinke's story. District Attorney Otto Schlachet is collecting evidence to determine whether the charge of assault and battery is to be pressed, or whether a more serious charge will be presented.

To Order Use of Gate
An injunction will be served on Mrs. Thomas, prohibiting her from interfering with Weinke's use of the gate until his grain is harvested. "The oats are ripe and ready to harvest," said Mr. Weinke, "and I have no means of getting at them unless some action is taken."

Mrs. Thomas appeared before the county judge, bringing with her as an exhibit the club with which she alleges that she was assaulted.

Grace Bencie, step-daughter of Will Weinke, who sustained a fractured arm and severe bruises about the head, is resting easily at her home in Bangor. The attending physician claims that her thick head of hair protected her from serious injuries on the skull.

GARBAGE HAULERS TO COME UNDER HEALTH ORDERS

City Attorney Higbee to Present Proposed City Ordinance to Council Soon Requiring All Drivers to Be Licensed

Recommendations, in a proposed new city ordinance, compelling all drivers of wagons which haul garbage to have a city license and to be under the direct supervision of the city health department, will be made to the common council in the near future by Dr. J. M. Furstman, city health officer; Mayor Arthur A. Bentley and City Attorney Jesse E. Higbee.

This was decided upon at a meeting of the board of health at the city hall held on Tuesday afternoon. The health department will also ask the council to provide one more garbage collection cart.

Mayor Bentley and Dr. Furstman were instructed to investigate the cost of providing and maintaining a comfort station, for men and women, in the basement of the State bank building.

AUTO DEALER IS FINED AND OTHERS DISMISSED

Frank Kieselbach, for whose arrest a warrant was secured at the same time, and who pleaded not guilty, was discharged when evidence was brought out showing that his car was not speeding. Hofweber was driving east on Main near Twelfth. He turned north, as Kieselbach's car, which had been running east on State street, turned south.

STRAW TICKS AND FOOT POWDER GIVEN LOCAL BOYS

Expected to Start on the First Practice Hike Some Time Next Week

CAMP WILSON, SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 26.—(Special to The TRIBUNE.)—La Crosse militiamen slept in comparative comfort Monday night. For the first time since their arrival they were given bed-ticks to be filled with hay. They have been expecting cots, but the issuance of the bed-sacks, it is believed, means that they will not get them. The First and Second regiments are equipped with cots.

Every man in the Third has been endowed with a can of foot-powder in order to keep their extremities in marching order. It is expected that the regiment will get away on its first practice hike next week. The hikes will start gradually, and will be lengthened until the men are able to cover thirty miles a day.

Most of the companies have had their equipment inspected by federal officers, and the entire regiment will be looked over, it is assured, before the end of the month.

The sick list is daily decreasing as the men become acclimated, and the Third is as fit as any militia command on the border. The heat of late has not been oppressive, and the drills are no longer so obnoxious as when the men first reached Camp Wilson.

The personnel of the Third regiment band is gradually being increased to its full quota, as musicians are discovered in the various companies. The band lost heavily through rejections at Camp Douglas because of physical defects.

The agricultural department announced the apportionments based on area, population and mileage of mail routes today. Wisconsin gets $123,361.

BENTLEY TO CHANGE FOURTH AND MAIN STREET CAR RULES

Mayor Plans Now to Fix Regulations That Will Allow Persons to Make Quick Connections

Revision of the recent Fourth and Main streets trolley traffic regulations, whereby persons can make transfers from east and southbound sixteenth street cars to north side cars, and from the cars coming in from North La Crosse to other cars, without having to wait ten minutes, is being worked out by Mayor Arthur A. Bentley, he announced on Wednesday.

"While I believe that the rules that were enforced on Fourth and Main," Mayor Bentley said, "have proven a big benefit to all traffic on the corner, there are a few changes which are now necessary that were at first not evident."

HOT SPELL WILL CONTINUE FOR THE NEXT THREE DAYS

CHICAGO, July 26.—Hotter weather for the middle west for the next three days was the prediction by the weather bureau here today, since the present heat spell began. July 12, there has been an average excess of four degrees over seasonal temperatures. It will be several days at least before the back of the heat wave is broken, the weather man said. Four deaths in Chicago within the last twenty-four hours were attributed to the heat.

Forty-five cities in the United States and two in Canada yesterday registered temperatures of 90 or above. At Phoenix, Ariz., the mercury climbed to 106 making it the hottest spot in the country. Quincy, Ill., was next with 105.

WISCONSIN PEARL BUTTON CO. TRIES GROUP INSURANCE

This factory an instrument of dignified enterprise worthy of our good city and reasonably profitable to both investors and employees, to those considerations of mutual welfare by which the future security of the family is guarded.

Every right-thinking man and woman who is charged with the support of the bread-winner's death, and we take it that this is the greatest worry of the average wage-earner. We believe that work of itself is enjoyable, irksome only when complicated by worry and strain, and in seeking for our own people that care-free condition in which the individual puts most into and gets most out of life, we have after careful study adopted this method of guaranteeing to our workers a most competent care for their families in case of death while in our employ.

Briefly, the simple conditions of this plan follow: Every employee, male or female, who has been in our employ for one year or more, will be presented with a policy for $500. With each additional year of service, $50 will be added to the policy of each unmarried employee and $100 to the policy of each married employee until the total reaches, in case of married employees $1,000; in case of single employees $750. As soon as an employee has been in our employ for one year round out, yet a year of service, they will be given policies under the conditions just recited. The policies are made out for one year, but will be renewed from year to year as long as the recipient remains in our employ.

We feel that you will understand that you do understand—the spirit in which this is done—is that it is an expression of our realization of the mutuality of our aims, of the common hopes and ambitions and efforts which, so long as we fairly share them, mean success to all of us. It is no panacea, but it is our earnest hope that it will help make today's pleasures and tomorrow brighter as we journey on toward that happy day when—

—no one shall work for money, and each, in his separate star, shall do the things as he sees fit for the God of Things as they are."

Very earnestly yours,
WISCONSIN PEARL BUTTON CO.

TWO HUNDRED IS DEATH TOLL OF THE HOT WAVE

CHICAGO, July 26.—After the hottest day in six years, temporary relief was given Chicago Tuesday by a thunderstorm accompanied by a heavy fall of rain. Monday's toll of five heat victims in the Chicago district brought the local loss of life from the direct result of the present torrid spell to 19. The government thermometer reached 93 yesterday at Chicago, while temperatures of 100 up were not uncommon in the southwest and on the Pacific coast.

It was estimated Tuesday that the present heat wave in the plain and Pacific coast states has levied, directly or indirectly, a toll of 200 lives.

Hide Embargo to Force Americans Into Wooden Shoes

CHICAGO, July 26.—Wooden shoes for Americans within two years was the prediction made here by delegates to the Illinois Shoe Retailers' association's first annual convention.

"This country is facing a leather famine. Embargos placed by the allies against cattle shipments is gradually boosting the price of leather until it will be a luxury to wear a pair of shoes," said one delegate. "Shoes will cost $10 a pair and only millionaires will be able to afford high legged boots."

"If Uncle Sam does not do something to relieve the situation America will not only become a wooden shoe nation but also a vegetarian nation as well," said R. W. Ranney, of Galesburg, president of the association.

A fleet of steamers, dredges, pumps and houseboats will be required.

Private contracts have been let for hauling brush and crushing 30,000 tons of rock, as well as for other big jobs. Assurances are given there will be 60 miles of six foot channel on the upper river before cold weather in the fall.

FIGHT FOR BABY IN MATTERS CASE BEGINS IN COURT

CHICAGO, July 26.—The fight for the famous Matters baby was begun in Federal Judge Landis' court today. Mrs. Annie Dollie Ledgerwood Matters of Chicago, and "Margaret Bryan," unwed war-bride of the village blacksmith of her Canadian home town, were the women. Both claim to be the child's mother.

Sister St. Celestine, mother superior of the Misericordia hospital, Ottawa, Canada, was the first witness. Talking in a low voice directly to Judge Landis, she told of Mrs. Matters' visit to the hospital last July. "She said she had to adopt a child," said Sister St. Celestine. "She said she wanted it to appear as though the child was really her own. She did not want her husband to know."

CLASS OF TWELVE GRADUATES FRIDAY FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Second Summer School Class Will Be the First to Have Commencement Exercises

Twelve young men and women will graduate from the La Crosse high school Friday morning, in the first commencement exercises ever held for a summer school class in the city. Most of them have completed the allotted four-year course in three years. They are:

Walter Baum, Wesley Brandenburg, Thomas Dickens, Edward Evans, Evelyn Faas, Glen Heggy, Aloysius Kelly, Marguerite Kelly, Edna Newman, Kathryn Wanner, George Webber and Eloise White.

The class is the second summer school class to graduate from the high school. Last year six finished the course during dog-days. However, the 1915 graduates had no exercises, but took part in the June exercises of the 1915 class.

Wednesday evening the class was invited to be guests of Miss Lena Heideman, who has been principal of the summer school, at a banquet at West Salem. The trip was to be made in autos.

President William Luening of the school board will present the diplomas to the class at the exercises Friday morning in the high school auditorium. The following program will be given:

DE FACTO GIVE WIDE BERTH TO PERSHING FORCE

Repetition of the Carrizal Incident Is Not Likely to Be Repeated

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
COLUMBUS, N. M., July 26.—The Carranza soldiers in northern Chihuahua are giving the American expeditionary forces a wide berth, according to reports here today. General Trevino has withdrawn his cavalry patrols from the immediate vicinity of the American lines. General Pershing's scouts have not encountered any Mexican troops for many days and fears of a repetition of the Carrizal incident are almost entirely dissipated. Whether the de facto government troops have been withdrawn for the Villa campaign farther south is not known.

Fifty truck drivers, recruited in eastern states, arrived here during the night to pilot the new motor trains being formed to increase facilities for transporting supplies to Pershing's forces.

Free ticket tonight with one paid admission, good after tonight at Roller rink.

ONE CAPTURED BY POLICE TRACKED DOWN BY CROWD

A street, after the men had separated, joined a group of children who followed one of the robbers as he dodged through the alley in an attempt to elude pursuit. The man threw away a package he was carrying, and probably hid his revolver during this chase. Mrs. Eckdahl ran into the north side office of The TRIBUNE, where Mrs. J. G. Dubraks called the police a second time.

While the crowd waited for the police, the fugitive ran up the steps to the second floor of the Pfafflin & Manke hardware store, Clinton and Caledonia streets. He was ordered out by employees who were there, and returned to the street. Crossing Caledonia street, he ran to the Peterson flat building, dashed up-stairs to the residence of Mrs. Bice, and demanded entrance.

"Save me, save me," he panted. "I didn't do it!"
Mrs. Bice opposed his entrance, and he seized her, shaking and threatening her. He forced his way into the house and into a bedroom, where Patrolman Groeschner found him on his arrival.

BRITON SUGGESTS NEUTRAL BOARD FOR RELIEF WORK

LONDON, July 26.—The British foreign office will submit to American Ambassador Page tomorrow a proposal that President Wilson appoint a committee of citizens of neutral nations to administer relief work in Poland, Serbia and Montenegro.

President Wilson's appeal for some sort of an agreement between England, Russia, Germany and France be arranged so that relief could be extended to Poland was recently addressed to King George, Czar Nicholas Kaiser Wilhelm and President Poincare.

FARMS OFFER STRIKERS JOBS

VIRGINIA, Minn., July 26.—Striking miners on the Mesaba range today were offered jobs as farm hands. William D. Haywood, I. W. W. leader, notified the strikers the I. W. W. had received a call for 11,000 men for harvester jobs.

PRELIMINARY EXPLANATION OF BLACKLIST GIVEN U. S. BY BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The state department Tuesday accepted from Ambassador Spring-Rice informal assurances that the British blacklist is not intended to effect neutrals and would, in general, not affect existing contracts.

The acceptance was with the understanding that this government's liberty of action is not affected, it seems fit to enter formal protest against the principle against Great Britain in her black list policy.

The state department summarized the ambassador's statement as follows: "This act is not directed against neutrals, but its purpose is to prevent British capital and credit from adding to the support of the enemy. In general there is no intention to effect existing contracts and credit."

These assurances are called a preliminary reply to the state department's request of several days ago for a full explanation of the purposes of the black list and the extent of its application. It is understood the British foreign office will issue a more complete statement shortly.

FOUR MEN SAW WAY THROUGH COUNTY JAIL BARS; ESCAPE

work wall through which the men crawled. The men evidently did this as a protection against sound.

The window and screen of the jail wall were both broken. When the last bar was out, it was a simple matter for the jail breakers to slide to the ground and make off across the marsh to North La Crosse.

As they did in sawing the cell wall the men selected a bar of the window which was next to another bar which some years ago had been sawed off by an escaping prisoner.

Sheriff Ritter and his family did not retire on Tuesday night until after 11 o'clock. The jail was then given the customary close inspection. Ritter says that the turnkeys found everything in the proper order.

Saws Form Mystery
How the prisoners obtained the saw, or saws, with which they gained their freedom, is a mystery.

The wife of Bayless, who resides in La Crosse, was the only visitor the men have had recently. Sheriff Ritter declares. He says that Mrs. Bayless visited her husband last Friday. She remained in the guests' room on the lower floor of the jail, and Bayless was allowed to come down and talk to her.

Sheriff Ritter is of the firm belief that more than one saw was used, and that they were smuggled into the jail by some visitor. But who the person is that brought them to the jail, he has no knowledge.

With Undersheriff John A. Webber, and others, Sheriff Ritter watched every departing freight and passenger train out of La Crosse on Wednesday morning. No trace has been found of the men.

STRIKE POLL OF BROTHERHOODS TO BE ENDED AUG. 8

CLEVELAND, O., July 12.—The result of the four railroad brotherhoods vote will not be known until August eighth," said Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers today.

The men are voting on whether or not they shall confer authority on the brotherhood officials "to act" in case they are unable to come to an agreement with the managers of American railroads on demands for an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime.

GARMENT STRIKERS REFUSE SETTLEMENT

NEW YORK, July 26.—Amidst wildest disorder, the agreement which it was hoped would settle the long drawn out strike of garment workers was tentatively rejected at a meeting of the strikers. Charges that the representatives of the strikers had sold them out in drawing up the agreement with the employers were made.

PARALYSIS EPIDEMIC IN NEW YORK ON INCREASE

PITCHERS WILD IN LOOSE GAME WON BY CHICAGO

New York 8, Chicago 13
CHICAGO, July 26.—Caldwell's wildness was the chief factor in Chicago's 13 to 8 victory over the crippled Yankees on Tuesday.
Cicotte was nearly as wild, but was taken out in time to prevent disaster, though four hits in the sixth routed Russell, his successor.
Magee was out of the game as a result of a twisted ankle suffered in an exhibition on Monday. Umpire Deneen ordered Fisher of New York from the field for noisy comments on decisions. A stop by Terry in the fourth stopped a Yankee rally. The score:

New York . . . 210013001—8 11 1
Chicago . . . 50003500—13 9 3

Boston 4, Cleveland 5
CLEVELAND, O., July 26.—Cleveland won the opening game from Boston 5 to 4. Speaker defeating his former teammates by making three hits, driving in three runs, and scoring two himself. Boston had the tying run on third in the ninth, but Bagby retired the side by fanning Walker. Score:

WOMAN SAILS IN RACE CHICAGO TO MACKINAC

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 26.—Mrs. Roy Barcal, one of the crew who sailed the yacht Intrepid to a win in the Chicago to Mackinac 331 mile cruise, was being congratulated today for being the first woman to sail a Mackinac race. The Intrepid won after a seventy-two hour race alongside the Dorella, which finished five minutes behind her.

Young Financier
Freddie came into the house one day and said that the woman next door had offered him a penny if he would tell what his mother had said about her.
"I'm so glad you didn't tell," remarked his mother. "I wouldn't have her know for anything that I even mention her. You're a wise little boy, my dear."
"You bet I am," returned Freddie. "When she offered me the penny I told her what you said was something awful and it was worth half a dollar."—New York Times.

CUBS WIN FROM BOSTON TUESDAY ELEVEN INNINGS

BOSTON, Mass., July 26.—Chicago defeated the Braves, 3 to 4, in an eleven inning contest on Tuesday. Umpire Eason's decision, however, allowing the run scored by the Cubs in the eleventh, will be protested by Boston. Zimmerman, who had reached first on a fielder's choice, came all the way home when Fitzpatrick threw badly to first on Saier's grounder.
Boston will contend that Zimmerman should have been allowed to take third only on the play. Umpire Eason ruled that the runner had rounded second before the ball went into Boston's dugout and was entitled to continue to the plate.
Svers and Zeider had a mixup in the sixth and both were put out of the game by Umpire Eason. The score:
R H E
Chicago . . . 00000200001—3 6 0
Boston . . . 00000002000—2 5 2

RAIN PREVENTS FAN OVATION FOR GRAND OLD MATTY

NEW YORK, July 26.—Prevented by rain from welcoming their idol yesterday, New York fans will turn out today, weather permitting, to give Christy Mathewson, newly established manager of the Reds, the ovation planned for him. It was rainy and threatening during the morning.
Meanwhile, in the west several highly important series between American league teams are under way. The four first division teams are at each other's throats, while the Tigers entertain Washington and the St. Louis Browns are taking advantage of Connie Mack's hopefulness.
From the way they started in, it is evident that the west has no intention of making things pleasant for their eastern visitors. Yesterday's games resulted in a clean sweep for the westerners, with a resultant tightening of the league race.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero
The Only Tins Speaker. Tris got a double and two singles out of three times up, the hits driving in three runs. Then he scored two himself, accounting for every tally made by the Indians. His old team-mates were the victims.
The rainmaker potted three games in the National league.
Ray Keating and Cliff Markle, right hand pitchers, kissed the Yankee payroll good-bye "by request of the management."
World's greatest optimist: Christy Mathewson. "Big Six" says going to a club in the eighth hole isn't so bad because if it goes anywhere it will be up.
Cool headed players on each side kept Evers and Zeider from mixing in the sixth inning of the Braves-Cub game. Umpire Eason sent them both to the clubhouse.
Athletics lost again.
Five singles, two bases on balls and a triple off Lanning in the second inning gave St. Louis six runs.
Detroit walloped the Senators by consistent play, scoring in four innings. The Senators got four in the first but couldn't stand the pace.

DIVER ALL SET FOR DASH BUT STILL LINGERS

BALTIMORE, Md., July 26.—A little patch of green visible through a driving rain told watchers Tuesday that the German subsea freighter Deutschland was still there.
What had prevented her from heading for the capes over night, as apparently planned, was more mysterious than all the mysterious moves, dope dreams or theories connected with this submarine structure.
Movements at her dock over night made it seem, at least more than ever before, that she was going at once.
But after the first maneuvers of the early night, calm settled over the pier, the tug Timmins only occasionally flashing her searchlight out into the storm and the Neckar and Deutschland crews attended divine service and then a banquet.
Manifestly the submarine is ready in every sense of the word for a quick getaway.
Whether the promoters actually fear for the Deutschland's sister ship, the Bremen, is something they alone know. The most likely thing seemed to be that the Deutschland will go down to the capes and wait for her, unless indeed she is taking a northerly course toward Boston, thereby drawing away the allied patrol from the capes to permit easier egress for the Deutschland.

LEONARD CAN GET WELSH PLACE WITH WIN FROM CHAMPION

NEW YORK, July 26.—An added incentive for Benny Leonard to flatten Freddie Welsh in their battle next Friday night, is an offer from Colorado sport promoters to accept the little Harlem fighter as a substitute for the champion against Charley White on Labor day in case the title changes hands.
Benny apparently has every intention of stopping Welsh, if possible anyhow, but now if he can assume the lightweight crown at Washington park, he can be the principal in a very remunerative twenty round bout at Colorado Springs, with White as his opponent.

The testimony before the jury disclosed the Ratcliffe girl died of air in the arteries, believed to have been pumped there by Hinterlitter in an attempt to perform an illegal operation.
The limp body of the 17-year-old girl was brought to a sanitarium here late Friday night by Hinterlitter.

"AUF WIEDERSEHN"

BY EARL REED SILVERS

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

They sat in the swinging couch of the Country club veranda. Mildred Terrill spoke first.

"We haven't been together at a dance for five weeks," she said.

"No," he answered, "not since you cut the last waltz at the Assembly ball."

"Are you still angry about that?"

"Yes," Cliff Hillman's lips were compressed tightly. "It was the worst thing that ever happened to me."

"I didn't do it purposely," she looked at him with big, appealing eyes.

"No, it was worse than that. You just forgot me."

"Will you let me explain?"

"I don't see that there's anything you can say to better it."

"But there is."

"What?" He looked gloomily over the rolling golf links.

"I didn't know that the last dance had started. I was walking with Arthur between dances, and we went just a little too far. We couldn't hear the music where we were."

"If you were with me, do you think you would forget about the next dance—if you had it with Arthur?" He looked at her half angrily.

"Yes," Her voice was soft.

"Do you know what the waltz was that you forgot?"

"It was 'Auf Wiedersehn.'"

"Yes, our dance," He turned to her directly. "Do you remember how, when we first heard that piece, you said that we should always dance it together?"

"Yes, I remember."

"I was crazy about you that night, and 'Auf Wiedersehn' was the most wonderful dance I had ever heard. You seemed to care a lot then."

"I did." If he had seen the light in her eyes, he would have thrilled at the message it conveyed. But he was looking into the distance.

"And still, just a week later, you cut it to go walking with Arthur Hale."

"I told you I was sorry," she spoke spiritedly. "I am sorry, but there isn't anything else I can do. Is there?"

"No," he answered, but he said it in a way that meant "yes."

"What's past is past," she continued. "Don't you want to be good friends again?"

"Of course, but it isn't much use now."

"Why?"

"Because of something I heard."

"What was it?"

"I heard this morning," he spoke slowly, "that you are engaged to Arthur Hale."

"Who told you?"

"I promised I wouldn't say."

"Do you believe it?"

He was silent for a moment before answering.

"I don't know," he said finally. "You and Arthur had been going together for a long time before you met me. There were rumors of an engagement then, and after what happened at the Assembly ball I can't help thinking that maybe it is true."

"Isn't true; I'm not engaged to any one," she looked fairly into his brooding eyes.

"I'm glad," he smiled for the first time during the conversation. "Maybe we might have 'Auf Wiedersehn' together tonight," he suggested.

She glanced at the order in her hand.

"It's the tenth dance," she said hesitatingly, "and I am to have that with Arthur."

He scowled.

"I knew it. And that was always going to be our dance."

"I'm sorry."

"I'm sorry, too," He rose as the orchestra struck up a lively fox trot. "Here comes Arthur now," he said. "This is probably his dance, too."

"Yes, it is," she hesitated. "Maybe—" she began. But before she could speak further Arthur Hale appeared on the scene.

"It's our dance, Mildred," he announced. "Come on—it's a wonder."

The girl threw a glance over her shoulder as she walked away, but Cliff did not see her. He was thinking of 'Auf Wiedersehn' and all that it had meant to him.

While the others were dancing, he walked to the end of the porch and seated himself in the shadows. The music died away, but he did not stir. Suddenly he heard a girl's voice. It was Mildred's.

"Do you mind," she was saying, "if I give the tenth dance away?"

"Of course I do," Arthur spoke with the self-assurance which was his most notable characteristic. "That's 'Auf Wiedersehn,' and it's mine."

"No," the girl said, "not yours. I'm sorry, but I'll have to give it away."

"What?" The man's voice rang out angrily.

"You have ten others, and I think you can very easily give one away. At any rate, I'm going to take it."

"Well, of course you can do what you want to."

"And you won't be angry?"

"Yes, I shall be."

"Well, you'll have to be then."

She spoke as if she didn't care. I'm going to give it to Clifford.

"Who?"

"To Clifford Hillman."

"Oh, so you're going back to him?" There was a sneer in his voice.

"I think you've said enough, Arthur," she spoke quietly.

"I beg your pardon," Hale accepted his defeat like a man. "I'll see if I can find him for you."

"Thank you! I'll wait here."

After he had gone, Cliff emerged from the shadows.

"Mildred!" he said.

"Oh," she blushed deeply. "Did you hear what I said?"

"Yes," he answered.

When Hale came back to tell Mildred that his search was in vain, he could not find her, for she was hidden in the shadows which bordered the golf links.

The ninth dance was just starting when she and Cliff returned to the veranda. She glanced at her card.

"This is with Arthur," she said.

"I must tell him."

"And the next is 'Auf Wiedersehn.'"

"Yes," she answered, "the next is our dance." She laid her hand on his arm. "Good-bye, dear," she whispered.

"Till we meet again," he returned.

LAST BUREAU IS TO BE ORGANIZED
FOR NEW CHAMBER

Organization of the various bureaus of the Chamber of Commerce will be completed tonight with the formation of the Agricultural Bureau. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock in the directors' room of the La Crosse club. Two directors will be elected to the governing board. Although the present enrollment in this bureau is over fifty, La Crosse business men form the greatest part of this number. Ways and means of securing a larger representation of farmers will be considered, and to this end everyone interested in the agricultural bureau is requested to be present, whether they have formally joined the bureau or not. The intention is to transact the business of the meeting as rapidly as possible, on account of the hot weather.

CANADA WHEAT CROP

WINNIPEG, Man., July 26.—Pessimistic reports of the Canadian wheat crop were brought here today by Minister of Agriculture Valentine Winkler after a lengthy trip through the Canadian belt. Winkler said the crops through southern parts of Manitoba will not be nearly so heavy as strength of the straw had indicated. There was some rust, he said. The north country conditions were better, according to information reaching Winkler.

RESCUE OUTFITS
ARRIVE 36 HOURS
AFTER TRAGEDY

Rescuers in the Cleveland Crib Disaster Are Warned to Look Out for More Gas

CLEVELAND, O., July 26.—Thirty-six hours after an explosion of gas and an attempted rescue of eleven workmen trapped in a water works tunnel under the lake had claimed over a score of lives, safety lamps arrived, permitting the rescue work to be resumed.

H. H. Rhinehalt, chief engineer at Crib No. 5, warned the federal mine inspectors to watch out for more deadly gas.

"Hell is liable to break loose in that hole any time," said Rhinehalt. "Engines working all night pumped fresh air into the tunnel, raising the pressure to twenty pounds per square inch."

Two men gave up their lives in a heroic effort to free the entombed men. A dozen others faced death in a similar attempt. They went down into the death hole without helmets and feverishly worked to revive those overcome, though pulmotors were lacking.

Flags flew at half-mast today in honor of the ten men who died trying to save their fellowmen.

Meanwhile a triple probe—federal, county, and municipal—was to be held to try to fix responsibility. The investigators will try to find out why no precautions were taken against a possible accident in the tunnel. There were no safety first devices or first aid implements.

AKED QUILTS PEACE BODY

DETROIT, Mich., July 26.—Dr. Charles F. Aked of San Francisco has resigned as chairman of the Neutral Peace conference in Stockholm, which was established by the Ford peace expedition last year.

Dr. Aked made the announcement here this afternoon following a long talk with Henry Ford. He gave as his reason that he and Ford were unable to agree on a policy for the conference.

RAILROAD HEAD DIES

ST. LOUIS, July 26.—J. H. Britton, president of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) railroad, died here today.

SECOND VICTIM OF TRIANGLE DIES

BOSTON, Mass., July 26.—Dr. Wilfred E. Harris died early today at the city hospital without a word or hint to the police, which might throw more light on Boston's tragedy of the eternal triangle. For a week the osteopath lingered unconscious from the three bullets with which he was shot down by Dr. Eldredge D. Atwood.

In the triangle the woman, Dr. Celia Adams, died from poisoning, believed to have been self-administered. It was her death, after a confession to her fiancé, Dr. Atwood, that Harris had betrayed her, that precipitated the shooting.

Atwood was to be arraigned today and the charge against him changed from felonious assault to first degree murder.

WILLIE LOSES LICENSE
BOOTLEGGING AGED EIGHT

CHICAGO, July 26.—"Swell beer sold here. Two glasses for a nickel." This was a sign on the stand of Willie Rock, aged 8, who quit the lemonade business because it was too slow.

Willie did a rushing business. A workman across the street had spied the sign and didn't believe he had read correctly, for he knew he was in one of Chicago's dryest zones. Prohibition absolutely. He bought a glass and then told the rest of the workers about the oasis. There was a rush and Willie finally took down the sign and went home to show Grandma Rock the sixty cents he had made selling Pa's dozen bottles of beer, which cost Papa $1.20.

Grandma revoked Willie's license right away.

MILWAUKEE OBJECTS TO LAKE RATES ON GRAIN

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The chamber of commerce of Milwaukee today named sixty-five railroads in a complaint to the interstate commerce commission, protesting against increased rates on grain from Milwaukee to Buffalo and eastern points via the Great Lakes Transit corporation steamship lines and to Atlantic ports for export.

SEND GUARDSMAN'S BODY

LAREDO, Tex., July 26.—The body of Reuben A. Harding, private in Company E, Second Maine Infantry, who was drowned at San Ygnacio, last Saturday, was shipped home last night.

PETTIBONE HEIRS
PAY BIGGEST TAX
IN COUNTY RECORD

The biggest inheritance tax ever paid in La Crosse county was paid to County Treasurer Ole Lunde this morning when Attorney George H. Gordon, representing the executor of the Pettibone estate, Wilson B. Pettibone, turned over to the officials a check for $20,516.80. The total gross value of the Pettibone estate is $1,038,202.22, from which deductions must be paid for various expenses. The net value is given as $1,020,531.

MILITIAMEN ON BOARDER KILLED
BOARDING TRAIN

EL PASO, Texas, July 26.—One militiaman accidentally killed and another missing were reported from the national camps here today. Private Melvin Fairweather, Troop F, First Massachusetts cavalry, was found yesterday beside the railroad near camp, with his skull crushed. It is believed he tried to board a moving train and fell under the wheels.

Private Missioner, Company H, Ninth Massachusetts infantry, is reported missing.

For the first time in the county's history, no Mexican was nominated for office here in last Saturday's democratic primary. Several Mexicans were badly defeated.

COULDN'T BEAT TRAIN

DENVER, Colo., July 26.—"They tried to beat the train across," was the coroner's report, closing his investigation of Tuesday's Grand Crossing accident in which Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Waugh of Bend, Ore., were killed in a collision between their automobiles and an electric interurban car.

KINSLOE BOUND BY FLOODS IN CAROLINA HILL

In a letter addressed to Frank Hixon, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and forwarded to him Bend, Ore., by Mr. Joseph M. Hix, James R. Kinsloe, secretary of the chamber, has sent word that he is marooned in a summer place in the Carolina mountains by the flooding that country. So complete is his isolation that there is not mail or telegraphic or telephone communications. The letter was sent by courier, who found his way out, and expresses the hope that Uncle Sam will find a way to deliver it.

Secretary and Mrs. Kinsloe are safe, but the time of their imprisonment is problematical. The secretary says that he will make straight for La Crosse when released, but it is deemed improbable that he will be able to reach here by August 1, the appointed time. His delay may defer the date of the first big meeting of the chamber and the completion of the organization.

CYCLONE AND HAIL
RUIN CROP IN WES

A letter received from Mrs. Lett Wolf, Fairfuse, N. D., by Mrs. William Manning, 811 Cameron avenue here, sister, on Monday, tells of severe damage done by a cyclone and hail storm which swept over her farm and the adjoining country recently.

The letter follows:

"Dear Sister:
"A cyclone went through here a few days ago, accompanied by heavy hail storm. Hail the size of hens' eggs broke windows, and destroyed all or crops. The barns and our place were blown down and the house was damaged. Several persons were killed near here and several injured. We are glad to be alive."

A Helpful
Confession

Mrs. B. writes: "Had suffered for years with stomach disorder. Could not eat without great distress, lost weight and was run down. Feared it was ulcerated stomach. Fortunately I secured a sample of HEMO, which seemed to satisfy my hunger, and was retained without distress. I immediately bought a package and started to take it regularly. I continued to take it once a day and improved steadily. After one year I have gained 33 pounds of good solid flesh and can eat any food with no distress. I can recommend HEMO to all sufferers from stomach or digestive disorders. Makes a delicious food drink by simply adding water. We suggest that you try a 50c package with our guarantee of satisfaction. Hoeschler Bros., Druggists, La Crosse."

Strikes were called at two plants Tuesday—the Evinrude Motor company and the Andrew Kopperud company.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, July 26.—Heavy selling pressure caused a collapse of bullish movements in the wheat market today after early gains of more than one cent. July was down 1 1/2c at 1 1/8; September down 1 1/8c at 1 1/8 1/2; December down 1 1/8c at 1 1/2 1/2 1/2.

Declines in corn were influenced by wheat. A strong undertone pushed corn prices up at the opening, but they soon fell. July corn was down 1c at 82 1/2c; September down 3c at 78 5/8c; December down 1 1/4c at 68 1/8c.

Oats, with the exception of July, were down on the weakness of the other grains. Slight gains on the opening were lost on free selling. July oats were up 1 1/4c at 41 3/4c; September down 5 1/8c at 40 7/8c; December down 1 1/2c at 42 7/8c.

Provisions were lower on slow trading and heavy hog receipts.
